

CHAPTER 4

A. LYDIA GARDNER married a Cogsdale. There was one child born to them and his name was James Little Cogsdale.

8. JEREMIEH GARDNER was Jesse and Elizabeth Gardner's son. Again I have no dates. His wife's name was Phoebe Buxton. I found he had six children (see chart 5B7). Their names were Martha, George Anthony, Isaac, Mary, Elizabeth, and Margaret.

F. GEORGE ANTHONY GARDNER was another son of Jeremieh and Phoebe B. Gardner. The following section will be devoted to him and his descendants.

GEORGE ANTHONY GARDNER SON OF
JEREMIEH AND PHOEBE BUXTON GARDNER

Jeremieh's son, George Anthony Gardner, married Emily Wills. I have recently received more information about him. From one source I learned that his full name was George Anthony Gardner and that his wife's name was Emily Wills. After his first wife died, he married Mrs. Betty Lee. He had six children and I believe they were by his first wife, Emily. His children were named: Elmira Frances Gardner, Anna Lucillins Gardner, Delia Alice Gardner, Tony Gardner, Josie Gardner, and Emily Gardner (see chart 5B7A).

Before I trace the families of the above named children, I will relate what I know about George Anthony Gardner. He was a plantation and slave owner and lived in Southampton County, Virginia. His plantation was located north of Sedley and Black Creek, Virginia. To get to this site one must go to Black Creek in Southampton County. Then take Vicksville Road north. About a mile and half from Black Creek turn on Mission Church Road. Then about two miles down this road you will come to Unity Road. Mission Church Road ends there. Take Unity Road east for about half a mile and the farm will be on your right. This land now belongs to the Holt family. The house was demolished several years ago.

I will conclude the section on George Anthony Gardner with a drawing of the house as described to me, a picture of the land on which the house sat, a copy of two letters which he wrote, a letter which was written by a Confederate soldier to his daughter (Anna Gardner), a hand written invitation, and several other pictures of members of this family.

His great grand daughter, Mrs Phoebe McClenney Boykin, writes that she understands that George ran a "tight ship". On wash day, after the laundry was completed and the big iron pot had been cleaned, he would take out his snow white handkerchief and wipe out the inside of the pot. If any soil clung to the linen, somebody paid the penalty of punishment. Sounds to me like he was a very strict man.

Mrs. Phoebe also writes that he was an educated man as she has seen a letter which he wrote, in good hand writing, to a daughter who was in boarding school. Mrs. Phoebe is eighty seven years young and lives in Portsmouth, Virginia. I have talked to and written to her and recently had the pleasure of meeting her. She has given me the letters which are at the end of this section. I do hope that I can complete this book soon enough for her to see it.

1. ELMIRA FRANCES GARDNER was the daughter of George A. and Emily W. Gardner. She was born April 2, 1844 and married Henry Ashburn. They were married Dec. 24, 1868 but had met during the Civil War.

During the war some families left Nansemond County and Isle of Wight County and moved to Southampton County where there was little or no fighting. One of these families was the McClenney family. Their son, Thomas Alphonso McClenney, was a soldier with the Confederate Army and when he could get leave, he would go to Southampton County to see his parents. Henry Ashburn went with him once in awhile and this is how they met the George A. Gardner family.

Henry Ashburn was born July 29, 1839. His father and mother were Elisha and Winnie Simons Ashburn. Henry and Elmira F. Gardner Ashburn had six children: Addison Ashburn, Grace Ashburn, Quince Ashburn, Lizzie Ashburn, and Belle Ashburn.

To this union two children were born: Lynell Oliver Baker (born Jan. 1, 1971) and Robert Newton Baker IV (born July 2, 1974). He and Linda were divorced in 1982. He then met and married Ruth Holloman. They were married Dec. 4, 1988. His daughter, Lynell Oliver Baker, lost her life in a tragic accident July 9, 1989. I do not know the details of this accident but it involved a horse. Robert N. Baker III owns and operates R. W. Baker Funeral Home in Suffolk, Virginia as did his father before him.

Roberta works with her brother, Robert N. Baker III, at the family business, R. W. Baker Funeral Home. She and her husband make their home in Suffolk, Virginia.

D. LYNELL OLIVER BAKER was born Mar. 11, 1944. She is the daughter of Robert N. Baker, Jr. and Allie Gardner Oliver Baker. She met and married Rufus A. Baines, Jr. They were married April 2, 1966. He was born June 9, 1944. Rufus is employed by the Virginia

State Police. He was a highway patrolman for many years but now is assigned to special investigation work. He and Lynell make their home in Tappahannock, Virginia. They have two children: Robert Ashton Baines (born Sept. 18, 1966) and Richard Lee Baines (born Aug. 13, 1969).

2. RICHARD LEE BAINES married Sharon Lee Gill. Sharon was born Nov. 6, 1969.

The above information was supplied by Roberta Baker Powell. She is the sister of Robert N. Baker III. It was from this information that I learned all the names of the children of George Anthony Gardner and who they married.

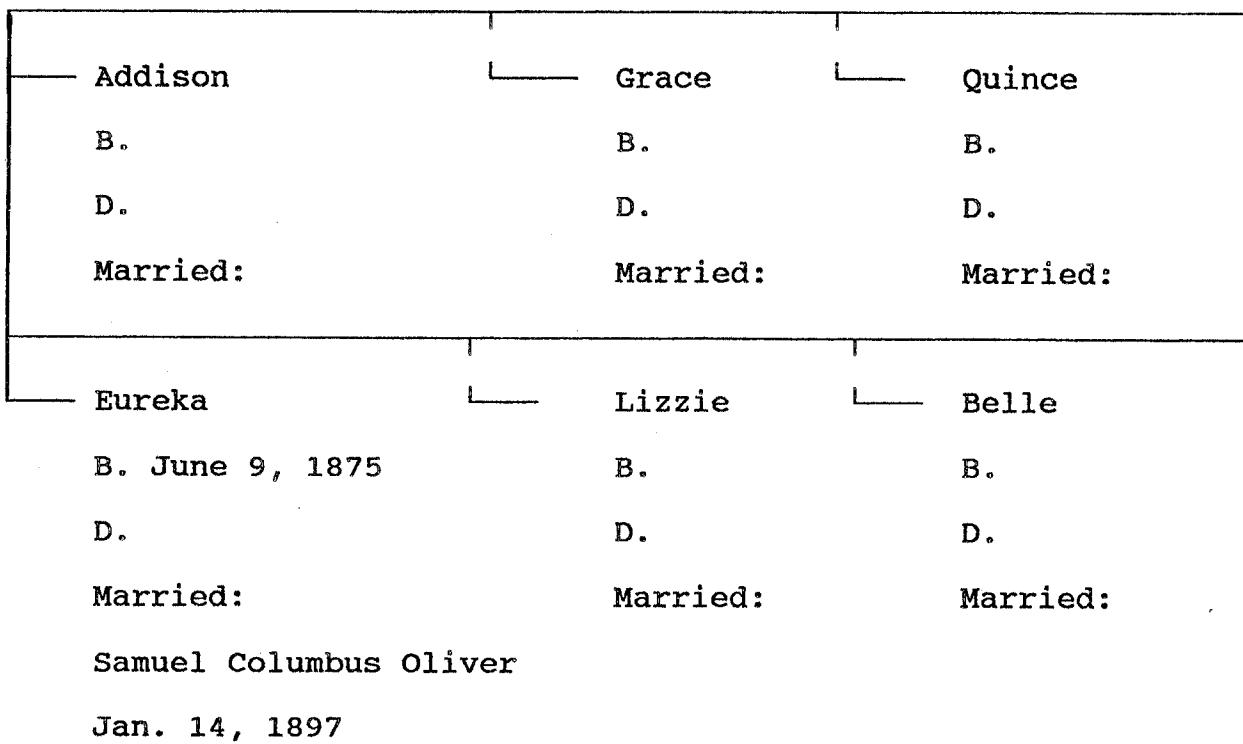

This concludes the information which I have on Elmira France Gardner and her descendants.

2. ANNA LUCILLINS GARDNER was another daughter of George A. and Emily Wills Gardner. She was born in 1845 and died Aug. 23, 1905. She married Thomas Alphonso McClenney Dec. 12, 1867. He was born Dec. 12, 1845 on his father's plantation in Nansemond County, Virginia. Thomas died Sept. 9, 1904. He met Anna while visiting his parents in Southampton County during the Civil War. His parents had moved to Southampton County in order to escape the fighting which was going on in Nansemond County during the war.

The following was copied from a letter which was written by the War Department about the service record of Thomas A. McClenney.

WAR DEPARTMENT

THE ADJUTANT GENERALS OFFICE

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The records show that Thomas A. McClenney, Corporal, Company L., 62nd. Regiment Georgia Cavalry, Confederate States Army, enlisted August 1, 1862 at South Quay, Virginia.

Part of this Company subsequently became Company D, 8th. (Dearing's) Regiment Confederate Cavalry.

He was appointed Sergeant of that Company February 15, 1864. Muster roll for January 1 to April 30, 1864 shows him present.

This Company subsequently became Company 1, 24th. Regiment Virginia Cavalry, Confederate States Army. The muster roll of that Company for Sept. and Oct., 1864 last on file, shows him present, and list him as a Sergeant.

No later record of his service has been found. There are no records of the battles he may have been in.

Signed,

Major General

The Adjutant General

Sept. 20, 1933

Mrs. Phoebe writes that her grand father was stationed in Nansemond County most of the war. When he could get leave, he would visit his parents in Southampton County. Sometime in the course of these visits he met Anna L. Gardner and married her a few years later. Another Nansemond boy, Henry Ashburn, accompanied him on some of these visits. Henry was also a soldier in the Confederate Army. He met Elmira Gardner, Anna L. Gardner's sister, while visiting the McClenney family. As you have already read, Henry later married Elmira Gardner.

Thomas A. and Anna Gardner McClenney had six children: Emma McClenney, William Baxter McClenney, Odie McClenney, Sallie McClenney, George Robert McClenney, and Clayton McClenney.

- A. EMMA McCLENNY - no information.
- B. ODIE McCLENNY - no information.
- C. GEORGE ROBERT McCLENNY - no information.
- D. CLAYTON McCLENNY - no information.

E. WILLIAM BAXTER McCLENNY was born Dec. 5, 1870 the son of Thomas A. and Anna Gardner McClenney. He married Charlotte Emily Lyon. Charlotte was born Aug. 20, 1876 in Buffalo, New York. Her father moved the family to Virginia after the Civil War. The economy was bad in both the North and South following the war but he hoped he could do better in Virginia. He settled at a place called Burnt Mill in Nansemond County. There is a man made lake at that location now and it is part of the Norfolk, Virginia water supply system. Mr. Lyon was a furniture maker and established a saw mill and furniture factory at the said location. His daughter, Charlotte, met and married William Baxter McClenney. They had one daughter, Phoebe Lyon McClenney (born Aug. 3, 1905). She became a school teacher.

1. PHOEBE LYON McCLENNY married a Richardson and after he died she married I. J. Boykin. She has no children by either husband. Although she does have step children and step grand children of Mr. Boykin.

Mrs. Phoebe told me she was born near Buckhorn, Virginia. Buckhorn was a crossroads and stage station in Nansemond County. When the Seaboard Railroad came through Buckhorn, a station was built there. The station was named "Purvis". The railroad could not name it Buckhorn because there was already a station by that name on the same line. I understand the name "Purvis" was taken from a family in the area at the time.

As the story goes the crossroads was named Buckhorn because someone in the area killed a large deer and nailed the horns from this deer to the porch post of the stage coach station. Thereafter the crossroads has been known as Buckhorn. I do not know if this is actually how the name came to be or not, but it makes a good story.

3. EMILY GARDNER was another daughter of George A. and Emily Wills Gardner. She met and married Dr. Robert McClenney and they lived in Texas. Dr. Robert McClenney was the brother of Thomas A. McClenney. Emily and Robert did not have any children. When they died, they left their estate to an orphanage in Texas. Mrs. Phoebe writes that she understands that Dr. Robert McClenney left a large estate at his death, over half million dollars.

4. TONY GARDNER was a son of George A. and Emily Wills Gardner. He married a German girl. I do not have her name. They had three children: Oscar Gardner, Albert Gardner, and Marie Gardner.

5. JOSIE GARDNER was another son of George A. and Emily Wills Gardner. I have no other information on him.

6. DELIA ALICE GARDNER was another daughter of George A. and Emily Wills Gardner. The following section will be on her family and her descendants.

DELIA ALICE GARDNER DAUGHTER OF
GEORGE A. AND EMILY WILLS GARDNER

Delia Alice Gardner was born July 9, 1850 and died April 23, 1938. She married John Arrington Hundley Nov. 29, 1870 (by Rev. Mills Barrett) at her father's residence. John A. Hundley was born May 19, 1834 and died Oct. 21, 1902. John and Delia Hundley's home is on the Ivor Road near Beals Packing House (a meat packer). John was an enterprising man I am told. He owned a large farm, packed and sold meat, and ran a sawmill.

He and Delia had seven children: Lynn Holmes Hundley, Yancy Clinton Hundley, Gillie Wreath Hundley, George Thomas Hundley, John Carlton Hundley, Gardner Thomas Hundley, and Emily Ethel Hundley.

Gardner Thomas Hundley, Jr. told me that his grand mother, Delia G. Hundley, would go on shopping trips to Suffolk, Virginia once in a while. He said these would be three day trips. It would take all day the first day to get to her sister's home near Buckhorn. They would spend the night there and go into Suffolk the next day and shop all day. They would then return to her sister's home and spend the second night. The third day was spent traveling back home. (1). RUSSELL LYNN FAISON was born May 9, 1942 and is the son of Russell E. and Mary H. Faison. He married Brenda Faye Delbridge.

My Dear Child

A few leisure moments have at last presented themselves, I will improve them by writing to you in answer to yours I was happy to see that you fulfilled your promise I hope you will always carry out my will and wishes as you have always done and how very you must study hard and be a good girl take care of Alice and be of your confidential friends. Are you taken Music and Drawing I p. et. How do you like it? You must not cry and want to come home but be che-ful and wait until vacation of mother prevents it. I will visit you soon, your God has not come yet I think you will never see her again, it is my opinion that she is now sleeping in death your brothers are doing very well and has commenced to lay Mr. Turner seems to be very much interested in them he feeds them nights and mornings your brother Molly is well and ~~but~~ as far as possible she is a very good cat now since she has no one to pet her your sister has them feed regular she loves them for your sake you say she did the care when you left her by all your time so you must remember that tears do run always flow freely when one is melancholy but when such feelings often require meditation and reflection you ought not to judge her wrongfully I have with the least doubt but what she loves you devotedly I hear her speak of you often she says she misses you more than she did when she was at school my dear child you must improve your time it is worth improving every moment should be spent profitably you will never regret it Time is fleeting and if it is not improved while young you will have great reason to repent your cousin sue remember her loss to you and advise your sisters and brother David love me in love to you and advise you must not think anything of the brevity of my letters you will know that I have not much time to write you must write to me often your sister has written to you and is anxious for you to answer her letter

I must close now be good children.

Camp near Greenville N.C.

March 20th 1863

Miss Annie,

Messing does any many friends to night your orange stand familiar among them. Urged by the very pleasant thought that I may write something that will for a moment interest you I have concluded to write you a short epistle. We left Virginia the 11th inst and reached our present camp the 18th. We had a very pleasant trip to North Carolina. We have had very disagreeable weather since we came here. I was glad to reach any native state, but I believe I would have preferred to remain in Virginia.
We have a very unpleasant place to camp while I write this letter

the rain is battering upon my little slat roof. Some of our men have been but will get them victory.

I have nothing interesting to communicate.
I hear nothing but war war which is the absorbing theme of every every stream of thought and to you I feel assured this subject is destitute of all charms. I do sincerely hope that another year rolls around Victory will have perched upon the Southern banner and the idol of peace find a resting place in the bosom of our bleeding country

I heard that another battle had been fought near Blackwater river I am very anxious to hear the result.

of ite the soil of Virginia will ever be sacred to the memory of many a wife and sister as being The last resting place of a devoted husband and affectionate brother praise to their memory and peace to their ashes I have sent on for several pieces of moss which I will send to you as soon as I receive them Give my best wishes and regards to your sisters Present my best respects also to your father I'll him I will write him a short little as soon as we get to a permanent camp

Please let me hear from you all soon May you live a long and happy life die happy and be wafted to

The skies there, & etc.
Gods praise forever!
I remain your friend.

Delia Alice Gardner Hundley

Most of the information about Delia Alice Gardner Hundley and her descendants was supplied by Gardner Thomas Hundley, Jr. and Marcia Vick. I would not have been able to trace this side of the family without their help. Gardner also showed me where the George A. Gardner plantation was located as well as several other family members homes. He loves to discuss and tell about his ancestors and is a pleasure to be with. I want to take this time and space to thank both he and Marcia for their help.

This concludes the information I have on Jesse and Elizabeth Gardner and their descendants. Just to refresh your memory, Jesse Gardner was the son of James Gardner II. Jesse's grand father was James Gardner I and his great grand father was John Gardner. John Gardner emigrated to America from England in 1650.
