

The image shows the exterior of a fire station. The upper portion of the building is dark grey or black with three small, white-painted windows with triangular roofs. Below this is a red brick section featuring three large, white, double-garage doors. Between the middle and right garage doors is a central entrance with a glass door. Above the entrance, the words "DARLINGTON FIRE DEPT" are written in a serif font. To the right of the entrance is a single-story extension with a window. A metal ladder is mounted on the roof above the main structure.
